

ABSTRACT

The invention provides methods for screening libraries of cells for the production of ligand binding proteins. In one embodiment, libraries producing Fab antibody fragments are screened.